interview warmup

ⓘ Background question

Can you please tell me a bit about yourself?

notesYour answer

My name is andreza. I am 30 years old. I live in Cosmopolis, San Paulo. I'm a function developer. by 3 years And I have purchases in reaction type script and next Js.

ⓘ Background question

What are you looking for in your next job?

notesYour answer

a chance to go up in my career and in some years being a senior function developer in a company that makes me and give me Chance to grow up.

ⓘ Situational question

Tell me about a time when you had to act quickly but didn't have a lot of data to inform your decision. What did you do, and what was the outcome?

notesYour answer

There's one a time that the package developer have to do an adjustment in. in the project but he Remake all the functions. page they already exist and I I never Make it RC that the part of project so I have to do. this job very quickly because The deadline is it was very close, but I I can resolve. And everything doing great and I do it for the

---

---

ⓘ Situational question

4/5

Tell me about a time when you had to develop a new skill. How did you approach the learning process?

notes Your answer

In my last job. I need to learn it GSF. And I didn't. Any knowledge of that so I start working start to learn it at the same time and I make a lot of progress to developing the things. In a time and learn everything to delivery in the best way that I can do.

ⓘ Situational question

5/5

When do you try to push through and solve a problem on your own, and when do you involve others on your team?

notes Your answer

well, I Try at the most software problems. by my own by myself and I researching when having some problems and I asked for help when. I came to a problem that I can resolve. It I can find a response. On the web. So I Call some friends some colleagues and to try to. resolve this problem